Skinner Captured in San Francisco After Ten Day Vacation

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12.—Fred Skinner, escaped convict and fugitive from Nevada, was captured last night on Valencia street by Detectives Burke and Richards, who had been trailing him for five days.

The prisoner gave his name as the prison as Llewelyn Felkers, but when confronted with a description and the bertillon measurements and marks he made no further pretence at concealing his identity and cheerfully told how he had become a convict. For the first time, according to his statement, he repeated the narrative of the killing of his sister's husband in Butte, Montana. He said he was cruel to the girl when drunk and one day he happened to strike her in his presence and he could not resist the temptation to slay him on the spot. For this a coroner's jury exonerated him.

Skinner refused to furnish any details of his escape from the penitentiary at Carson City. It is believed that the convict was traced to this city by a member of the Nevada state police and that the arrest was suggested to the local officers by orders from Captain Donnell, the superintendent.

The fugitive will be returned to Carson without further delay or waiting for requisition papers as he will not oppose such action.

If it's of exceptional value at the price, it's sure to be advertised in the Bonanza, else the merchant would be hopelessly unprogressive.

HARKING BACK TO LAND OF BIRTH TO FIGHT THE TURKS

War developments in Europe has resulted in a general call to colors of all young men eligible for military service and the blood of young Serbia has been fired by thoughts of conquest. The encroachments of the lustful Turk and the atrocities which have aroused the minor principalities has incited the local Slavonians to think of responding to the call.

A meeting was held at the Serbian Young Men's club last night for the purpose of canvassing the situation. The greatest enthusiasm prevailed and almost every man in the hall proclaimed his readiness to go back to the mother country and, if necessary, to offer his life as a sacrifice.

Last week, according to reports over 1000 Slavonians left Sacramento and vicinity for home. New York states that at least 2000 men have taken passage within the past week and that all steamship accommodation is taxed to the utmost by the response of exiles. The local colony has not decided on any uniform action but, it is believed that when the time comes there will not be any shortage in the number of recruits from Tonopah.

Several speakers explained the cause of the war at the Balkan peninsula, describing this war a war which shall bring resurrection of liberty to their brothers, living under the Turk's yoke, whose mothers were bereaved, infants wrung from the hands of their parents, the husband and wife torn asunder, whose every right was trodden under foot for five centuries; the war with which the whole civilized world is sympathizing now, appointing that every one is obliged to do his duty and to help this action.

The speakers were greeted with enthusiasm and the meeting sent a greeting to King Nicholas of Montenegro, who is the first, according to the newspapers' news, of the four Balkan states, declared the war against the Turks, and who himself, with his three sons, took command of his armies.

They are eagerly waiting for an invitation and a great number of men are prepared to hasten to their fatherland to a sacred duty, at the battle-field, to stake their lives for their brothers.

The second meeting will be held today or tomorrow when a Red Cross fund will be organized.

BOSTON HAS A CLEAR CINCH ON PENNANT IS GENERAL OPINION

| The runs by innings: | | | | | | | | | |
|----------------------|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|-----|
| Team | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 | 8 | 9 |

R. H. E. a score by either side and the second was a repetition of the ciphering. In the third the monotony was broken by Boston scoring on a triple bagger from the frisky timber of Hooper and Yerkes, scoring Hooper. Speaker then singled and Yerkes scored, giving the home team two runs which netted them the game.

In the fourth the Giants failed to make an impression and the Sox were also quickly retired. The fifth was a fine exhibition of fanning and the sixth inning closed without an incident to disturb the leaders. Merkle scored in the seventh for the Giants and Boston remained still at the old stand.

This victory practically clinches the championship as Wood pitches again Monday and the Giants must win three straight to capture the pennant.

Receipts show 35,000 saw the game, the greatest crowd in Boston's history. Bedient pitched a masterly game, outshining the peerless Matty and standing the Giants on their beam ends. This was the best game of the series.

Hundred Dollars for a Life Is Price Paid by Gotham Police

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—In the trial of Becker Rose testified that he protested against the murder of Rosenthal but all the answer he got from the former captain of police was, "I want him croaked. I'll take care of the men doing the job."

The sentiment at police headquarters was such that they would give a medal to the man who would kill Rosenthal. Then the captain added, handing out a package of money, "Here's a hundred to give Selig and tell him that I want Rosenthal stopped."

When the matter was put up to Selig the latter demurred and then Selig said he saw Lefty Louie, who agreed to croak Rosenthal.

Rose was greatly perturbed as he gave this testimony. His face took on an ashy pallor and his knees trembled as he stood in the witness box. Becker eyed Rose with hostile determination and the timid tool of the machine shrank from the threatening glances.

Continuing Rose testified that he first met Becker in August, 1911, when Becker raided Rose's gambling place and they became chummy. Rose agreed to collect money for Becker and soon after Rosenthal and Becker arranged to go into business together on 45th street with Rose in charge, as Becker's representative. This continued until Rose quarreled when Rosenthal refused to give up $500 to Charles Tripp, Becker's press agent.

MRS. J. W. LYON SUFFERS FROM KICK OF A COLT

Mrs. J. W. Lyons, wife of the superintendent of a property at Silver Bow, who is now in Tonopah, was seriously injured the other day by a fractious colt which kicked her in the side. She was taken to her home in Goldfield for treatment.

TONOPAH INTERESTS TAKE OVER THE LUCKY BOY ALAMO GROUP

A mining deal of more than usual interest and importance was consummated in this city Wednesday, whereby the Lucky Boy and Alamo properties of the Lucky Boy, Nevada, district, fell into the control of the Jesse Knight investment company of Utah and the Charles E. Knox interests of Tonopah, Nevada, says the Salt Lake Tribune.

Mr. Knox is the president of the Montana Tonopah company, a director of the Nevada Hills and several other organizations of Nevada, having recently acquired for himself and associates the control of the Prince Consolidated company of the Pioche section. The Knight investment company of Provo is too well known in Utah to require any extended description of its activities in the mines of this state and other states, among its propositions being the Iron Blossom, Colorado, Black Jack, Beck Tunnel, Dragon Consolidated and several others of the Tintic camp, and the Rico-Wellington company of Rico, Colo.

Mr. Knox and associates have held a bond and lease on the Lucky Boy properties above mentioned from the former owner, J. H. Miller, and Mr. Miller will be associated with the Knight-Knox interests in the formation of a new company to take over the same for development. These properties are located in Mineral county, about seven miles from the town of Hawthorne, and there is more than a passing romantic interest attaching to this section.

The properties are located by the side of the famous Overland trail leading from Bodie. Following the Goldfield and Tonopah boom several years ago the Southern Pacific removed its tracks from Hawthorne to the new town of Thorne, thereby shortening its route to the south.

It was shortly after the removal of the railroad tracks that discovery of rich silver and lead ore began to be made in the Lucky Boy section, and Hawthorne came back to public notice despite the lack of a railroad. Among the history makers of the Lucky Boy camp were the two mines which provide the subject of the deal closed in this city Wednesday, and a production of over $1,000,000 worth of ore was made in them before the shaft struck water, and it became a very expensive proposition to handle the expensive showing in splendid quantity at depth.

It is the plan of the new owners

PORTLAND MAN BUILDING MILL FOR REDUCTION OF SILVER BOW ORES WITH FIFTY TON CAPACITY

Silver Bow is to have a real and substantial revival and, strange to say, the man who is chiefly interested in the camp is averse to publicity. He evinces faith in the camp by investing his money and avoiding incorporation as he is going it single handed and putting in a 50-ton mill which will pave the way for further development in that direction.

This gentleman, Mr. William Stevenson of Portland, Oregon, has been at the Mizpah hotel for several days awaiting the arrival of a big 35 horse power freighting truck which was due to arrive from Los Angeles in the early part of the week. The tractor came in last night loaded to the guards with supplies and went out this morning to Silver Bow. The builder of the wagon is L. H. Moore of Los Angeles, who claims to have perfected a car suitable for desert work and capable of withstanding the strain of rough usage in hauling heavy loads over bad roads. The wagon is built extra heavy and can haul a trailer carrying a load of four tons in addition to two tons on the motor.

Silver Bow is 50 miles southeast of Tonopah and eight years ago it was the victim of an ill-fated boom which burst through widespread of a score of eastern firms who exploited the district for the sake of stock instead of doing legitimate underground work. At that time Silver Bow contained over 500 inhabitants and was regularly surveyed and laid out with good streets lined with substantial stores and homes. From Goldfield the distance is only 47 miles but the easy running over the series of dry lakes in that end of the county makes Tonopah the natural trading center as the grades are light until close to the edge of town when the big hill is all there is to overcome.

COLUMBUS DAY TO BE OBSERVED BY ALL CITIZENS

SPEECHES, MUSIC, DANCING AND REFRESHMENTS BY THE K. OF C.

This is the anniversary of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus, who is given all the credit for the job in spite of recent claims of Norwegian precedence. The day is a holiday in California and most of the eastern states so there are no market reports from New York or San Francisco. Throughout Nevada, in sympathy with the adjacent states, there is a general suspension of banking business although no holiday has been proclaimed.

The formal celebration of the event will be held this evening by the Knights of Columbus at their hall on Brougher avenue, where arrangements have been made for an entertainment of an adequate character. There will be speeches by Mr. Frank Mannix, Thomas J. Lynch, James Degan, Mr. Cahill of Sierra Cruz council and Thomas Kieron of St. Paul council. The latter gentleman is largely interested in Golden Arrow and is staying temporarily in this city.

The program of speaking will be interspersed with musical selections and the floor will be cleared for dancing after which luncheon will be served.

PARADE IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Six thousand marines and bluejackets paraded on the anniversary of the discovery of America. This was the opening ceremony of the annual fall review of the Atlantic fleet which ends Tuesday. The president and Secretary Meyer were aboard the Mayflower in the reviewing.

HOMEWARD BOUND
